Is your cat/dog on any medication: Yes/No   If yes, what ....

Please ensure that your cat/dog does not eat after midnight, the night before admission. Water need only be withheld from 7.00am, the morning of admission.

Please bring your cat/dog to the Hospital between 8.00am and 9.00am. If your pet is a dog, please ensure that he/she is clean and dry and encourage him/her to go to the toilet before admittance. If your pet is a cat, please bring him/her to the hospital in a secure pet carrier.

We understand that you may be worried about your cat/dog being admitted for an operation or investigative procedure, especially if he or she is having an anaesthetic. Whilst it is impossible to completely eliminate any risk, the measures described overleaf help us to provide an exceptional level of care, keeping your pet as safe as possible.

1. Pre-Anaesthetic Examination and Blood Tests.

All of our patients receive a thorough physical examination before being sedated or anaesthetised. Unfortunately, some health problems cannot be detected without a blood test. These problems become more common in dogs and cats over seven years of age, but can sometimes be present in younger animals too. Awareness of any such problem helps us to keep an anaesthetic procedure as safe as possible. Please indicate below if you would like your pet to have a blood test.

Full Medical Profile   (Cost £67.89)   ☐   (a complete biochemistry & haematology analysis)

Standard Profile   (Cost £56.21)   ☐   (a complete biochemistry analysis)

Economy Profile   (Cost £32.29)   ☐   (an abbreviated version of the above specifically checking liver and kidney function)

No Blood Test   ☐

2. Intravenous Fluid Support

Having an "IV Drip" helps to maintain blood pressure, ensuring that vital organs, particularly the kidneys, receive adequate blood flow during the anaesthetic. This is particularly important for any animal having major surgery whatever their age, (including bitch spays), and for older animals (over 8 years old)

Additional cost: £60.00 (approx)

Please ensure my pet receives intravenous fluid therapy: Yes/No

3. Anaesthesia, Monitoring and Post Operative Care.

We have recently upgraded to the newest and safest general anaesthetic available in veterinary medicine, sevoflurane, and at present are the only veterinary practice in the Channel Islands to have taken such a step. We also employ highly experienced, qualified veterinary nurses, specifically trained in anaesthesia, and we use some of the most sophisticated anaesthetic monitoring equipment available; this all means that the risks associated with anaesthesia have been reduced to the lowest possible level.

Furthermore, to ensure maximum levels of hygiene and sterility, our surgeons change into dedicated operating clothing (eg operating hats, masks, gloves and sterile gowns) for every surgical procedure.

Client/Nurse Checklist:

Has the procedure about to be undertaken been explained to your satisfaction?   Yes/No

Has your cat/dog eaten since midnight?   Yes/No

Are your cat/dog's vaccinations up to date?   Yes/No

Would you like us to provide you with a suitable diet for your cat/dog's first few meals after today's procedure?   Yes/No

Are you aware of the cost implications of the above procedure and that payment is required on collection of your cat/dog?   Yes/No

If "No" would you like to be given an estimate before we proceed?   Yes/No

Any other questions or information?

Anaesthetic Consent and Agreement to Settle Fees Incurred:

I hereby give permission for the administration of an anaesthetic to the above cat/ dog and the carrying out of the procedure detailed above, together with any other procedures that the veterinary surgeon deems necessary for the wellbeing of my cat/dog, including the use of drugs not licensed for use in animals, if no veterinary alternative exists. I understand that all anaesthetic and surgical procedures involve a small degree of risk to my cat/dog.

Signed: ....   Dated: ....

I undertake to settle my account for these procedures at the time of collection of my cat/dog, (unless the fees are being paid directly by my pet insurance company). I acknowledge that I am responsible for the immediate payment of the 'policy excess', and any fees, drugs or goods that are not covered by my pet insurance policy, or which the insurance company decline to cover.

Signed: ....   Dated: ....

Thank you.
